

MY IB STORY

During my two year experience in the IB program, the most important part was the relationships that I was able to build with not only my peers but my teachers as well. The amount of effort, time, and care given by the IB teachers made the program unique. I found it beneficial to have open communication with many of my teachers. The respect that I have for my teachers who showed me that they not only care about our work but us, as people, is undeniable. My peers and I were able to originally bond over the course workload and overtime, that bond grew. This program provides students with the chance to understand the value of leaning on others when needed. If I had the chance to do it all over, I would still choose to do IB largely because of the community that it offers.
